

Instructional Design in Science

Traditionally, there are many teaching principle developed in education, but only some principle suitable for science teaching. For match these traditional teaching principles, this class will provide some principles in science instruction design. Additionally, modern science teaching should combine e-learning in the classroom. So we will also offer some e-learning theory for science instruction design.