

Qualitative Research

Dependence on qualitative methods for studying various educational issues is growing. Through reading, writing, sharing, and discussion, the main purposes of this course are to guide graduate students realize the traditions and the foundations of qualitative research in education, the characteristics of qualitative research, the theoretical underpinnings of qualitative research, the research design and fieldwork of qualitative research, the data collection and analysis of qualitative research, and the writing of qualitative research in education.